

Managing Ethnic Diversity in Russia

Table of Contents

List of figures and tables

Notes on contributors

Acknowledgements

Introduction, by Oleh Protsyk and Benedikt Harzl

1. Russian legislation in the area of minority rights, by Bill Bowring
2. International norms and legal status of minority languages in Russia, by Stefan Oeter
3. National-cultural autonomy in Russia: a matter of legal regulation or the symbolic construction of an ethnic mosaic?, by Alexander Osipov
4. The homogeneity of Russia, or the remains of an empire (federalism and regionalism), by Hans Oversloot
5. Governance and the types of political regimes in the ethnic regions of Russia, by Nikolay Petrov
6. The Northern Caucasus and challenges of minority governance, by Anna Matveeva
7. The ethno-political pendulum: the dynamics of the relationship between ethnic minorities and majorities in post-Soviet Russia, by Emil Pain
8. Russian government policies and minority identities, by Sergey Sokolovskiy
9. Ethnic mobilization, by Dmitry Gorenburg
10. Ethnic federalism, electoral systems, and the representation of ethnic minorities: evidence from Russia, by Robert G. Moser
11. The descriptive and substantive representation of ethnic minorities in the Russian parliament, by Paul Chaisty

Conclusion: Regime transition, political institutions and minority politics in Russia, by Valery Bunce

Index