

Minority Policy in Action: The Bonn-Copenhagen Declarations in a European Context 1955-2005

Contents

Acknowledgements

Forewords

Anders Fogh Rasmussen, Prime Minister of Denmark

Gerhard Schröder, Bundeskanzler of Germany

Heide Simonis, Minister-President of Schleswig-Holstein

Introduction, by Jørgen Kuehl and Marc Weller

Maps

1. The Bonn-Copenhagen Declarations of 1955: Background, Context and Impact of the Danish-German Minority Regulations, by Jørgen Kuehl

2. Languages and Identities in the National Minorities in the Danish-German Border Region and in the Bonn-Copenhagen Declarations, by Karen Margrethe Pedersen

3. The Danish-German border Region as an Example for Integration in the European Context, by Martin Klatt

4. Trans-Border Cooperation and Ethnic Diversity, by Francesco Palermo

5. Fundamental Rights and National Minorities in the European Union: Protection or Empowerment?, by Tove Malloy

6. Enhancing Linguistic and Cultural Diversity, by Fernand de Varennes

7. New Standards for Minority Issues in the Council of Europe and the OSCE, by Rainer Hofmann

8. Ethnopolitics in Central and Eastern Europe: Accommodation through De-ethnicisation?, by Stefan Wolff

9. From Security to Co-Governance: Towards an Integrated System of Diversity Management in Europe, by Marc Weller

Conclusion, by Jørgen Kuehl and Marc Weller

Annex - The Bonn-Copenhagen Declarations

Abbreviations

Biographical Notes on the Authors